

CUMULUS MEDIA ELIMINATES COSTLY IT DEPARTMENT HASSLES AND EXPENSES

with a centralized system that manages multiple locations

THE CHALLENGE

Cumulus Media needed a scalable system to manage more than 300 locations. They didn't have the IT resources to network all facilities under one account and each location required different staff access schedules.

THE CHOICE

“I can travel around the country with one card and program cards and administer other locations from anywhere on the web.”

-Phil Carabillo, Director of Real Estate, Cumulus Media

WHY BRIVO

- Manage security from around the globe through a platform on your mobile device
- Adjust access based on each user's and location's needs and enable users to carry one credential to access all facilities
- Eliminate the costly IT task of building a wide-area network to link databases together

THE CHANGE

Cumulus Media security leaders can manage their entire network of offices from any location throughout the country.

Brivo centralized administration of all access control functions with greater management visibility. Cumulus can manage multiple, geographically dispersed facilities, make global account changes and set different access schedules without having to dial into each location's local server.

Cloud-based remote management increases efficiency and ease of use. Security leaders can monitor building use and manage doors from any location with an activity log that automatically aggregates all user data.

LOWER TOTAL COST OF OWNERSHIP

Brivo Onair is cost effective and flexible enough to scale one facility at a time. Brivo's cloud-based system is easy to install, easy to manage, and requires less IT support and expense.

“We saved money on deployment costs, and the wireless option was a bonus. It’s everything we were looking for in a system. No glitches, no headaches, pretty seamless. The web-based interface is extremely easy to operate.”

-Phil Carabillo
