

TIRE DISTRIBUTOR REDUCES THEFT BY $1.8M

and rolls out mobile credentials to its 68 distribution centers

THE CHALLENGE

After losing almost $2 million in inventory, this tire distributor needed a solution to stop thieves in their tracks. Using lock and key was no longer the right solution because security leaders didn't know who (including past employees) had keys to each facility.

THE CHOICE

“If you can manage access centrally, you have more control and visibility.”

-David, Security Manager, Tire Distributor

WHY BRIVO

- Manage security through a single platform on your mobile device
- Allow employees to open doors with their phone and add or revoke access at any time
- Easily expand to more locations with a solution built for multi-site management
- Create security reports to understand access use and identify potentially unsecure patterns

THE CHANGE

Due to better security controls and a cloud-based system, the tire distributor was able to prevent theft and save around $1.8M in a single year.

Brivo Onair offers an easy-to-manage solution so security leaders can monitor building use, manage multiple locations, edit user permissions with the click of a button, create user groups and see event reporting.

“If I want to see who came into the facility at a certain time, I can look at reporting features. It's a good way to double check things.” - David Customize system administrator access so the right people can make adjustments to user permissions. While David manages the overall system, the center managers also have control of their locations. Center managers can create groups, add special schedules for specific people, and run event reports to monitor employees.

ADDED SYSTEM INTEGRATIONS

With Brivo's open API capabilities, the tire distributor integrates physical security with their HR, alarm, and video surveillance systems. This integration allows the team to manage all four of these important systems from a single interface.

“I love the ease of operation, the setup is nice, and there’s a lot of integration possibilities which provides a really flexible platform.”

-David
